

Maroussi-Tyler, first talks

The big man close to land in Europe

Maroussi confirmed on its (Link: <http://www.maroussibasket.gr/details.cfm?NewsFull=2112>) official website that the representative of Jeremy Tyler (the young center who (Link: http://www.sportando.net/eng/usa/ncaa/1711/jeremy_tyler_leaving_high_school_to_play_overseas.html) declared less than a month ago he would like to play in Europe rather than NCAA before finishing high school), Sonny Vaccaro asked to meet the management of the club.

And today there was the meeting between Maroussi CEO Panagiotis Alexandris and Sonny Vaccaro (who also representsrepresentant of Brandon Jennings, landed this year in Italy straight from High School. The two parts opened a channel of communication and agreed to maintain contacts in view of Tylers' arrival in Europe.

Tyler is considered by many to be the most talented big man to come along since Greg Oden and is projected as the top pick in the 2011 NBA draft.
